“ In a chaotic and hectic society where everything is now too “fast” and extremely immediate, individuals often lose their peace, balance, connection with harmony, become frustrated and find themselves in solitude. Some of them have the nature of a blooming dust and are unable to endure chains. They are soon beginning to shake their chains with insane force and throw the walls, the chains and themselves around the world. The series “Madness” was inspired by the literary heritage of George Perec and Franz Kafka. It is the fruit of imagination, contemplation, reflections and magical journey through our souls.

“ During the painting my senses are troubled and the desire for freedom at these moments becomes the core of the creation which is directed with no predetermined direction.
